“Non basta scegliere una strada.
Bisogna percorrerla fino in fondo.”

VIVA
MADE

A black and white photograph of a busy city street. The image is taken from an elevated perspective, showing a wide pedestrian crosswalk with white stripes. In the center of the crosswalk, the words "DON'T CARE ABOUT MASS TASTE" are painted in large, bold, yellow, distressed letters. The street is filled with many people walking, their figures blurred due to a long exposure, conveying a sense of constant motion and a crowded urban environment. The background shows more of the street and some buildings, also blurred. The overall composition emphasizes the contrast between the static, painted message and the dynamic, blurred movement of the city.
